Preventatives and Pet Health

Fleas, ticks, and mosquitoes can cause problems for your pet in any season. Consistently protecting them against these pests, even in cooler months, is the best way to keep your pet safe from the troublesome and costly issues these parasites can cause — allergic dermatitis, tapeworms, Lyme disease, heartworm, and more.

Your veterinarian will recommend the best flea, tick, and heartworm preventative for your pet. To ensure complete protection, be sure to administer the medication consistently as directed.

We Recommend RemindMe

Preventatives work best when they are given on time, year-round. You can make it easy to consistently give the preventative as prescribed by choosing the 1-ct. RemindMeSM packaging option when purchasing from our online store. A single dose of the preventative will be shipped to your home when it should be administered, so you never have to put your pet at risk by forgetting to administer a dose or running out. Plus, you only have to pay for one dose at a time, and RemindMe orders always ship free.*

*Free shipping is valid within the continental U.S. and not available in Hawaii and Alaska.
