

CLIENT EDUCATION

Osteoarthritis and Continuous Pain Management

If your dog or cat has been diagnosed with osteoarthritis, continuous pain management is likely to be a critical part of their treatment plan. The progressive nature of osteoarthritis means that without proper pain management, your pet's pain and muscle condition is likely to worsen over time. To improve their quality of life, your veterinarian will work with you to assess your pet's level of discomfort and develop an appropriate treatment plan to maintain mobility.

We Recommend AutoShip

Following your veterinarian's treatment plan and dosing instructions is key to improving your pet's quality of life by preventing or lessening their discomfort. To make this easier, we recommend placing the prescription on AutoShip through our online store. This convenient option means the product is automatically delivered to your home at your desired frequency — you'll never have to worry about missing a dose because you've unexpectedly run out. Plus, AutoShip orders always ship free.*

*Free shipping is valid within the continental U.S. and not available in Hawaii and Alaska. Some restrictions may apply.

- AutoShip makes it easier to follow your veterinarian's treatment plan
- Medication is automatically delivered to your home at your desired frequency
- Never worry about unexpectedly running out
- Ensure your pet's pain is being managed consistently
- Shipping is free*